Lonely Planet's Best in Travel 2009

Edited by Lonely Planet

Lonely Planet, $22.99, 328 pages

Travelers unite! Running out of places to go? Need some new ideas for your next cross-country, cross-continent, out-of-body experience? Lonely Planet has their newest guide to the best travel for the new year. Eight hundred and fifty places to go and things to do, organized in categories ranging from the top ten countries, regions and cities, to Fabulous Ferries, Sky Watching, Ancient Sites, and Great Turning Points in History. In addition, Lonely Planet co-founder Tony Wheeler gives his top picks for travel in 2009, and there is a 50 page country-by-country guide that looks at just how fun, safe, or dangerous it may be to visit each nation. Best in Travel 2009 is a great way to start planning your next trip, whether you plan on staying with the United States or getting your passport stamped on your way into another country.
