Questions We Have Forgotten To Ask

By Vashek Cervinka; Tanya Cervinka Slye

Vivid Horizon Books, $11.95, 68 pages

In this small, but quietly powerful, book, Cervinka and Slye present some short, yet hard-to-easily-answer, questions that can help you refocus your life to the things that are most important. All highly personal, introspective, and insightful, the questions make you think about who you are, what you believe in, and what you want from your life. They c o u l d serve as daily meditations or as weekly diary entries. From “What do I want to do next year?” to “How do I listen to the earth?” each question requires honest thought and not a trite answer. The colorful pictures of desert plants accompanying each question are a nice addition, and the book, while small, will provide many hours of important thought.
